DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claims 1, 10, 14, 16, and 18-24 have withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected claims. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on January 18, 2008.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 5, 7, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over USP 4640723 to Sugai et al.

Sugai discloses the features including the claimed Cu alloy composition (col. 1, line 63 to col. 2, line 13) and processing steps such as casting, rolling, and aging (col. 2, lines 34-48). With respect to the aging step before straining step in instant claim 9, that the change order of steps for the same result is not a patentable steps.

The instant claims do not define the claimed welding electrode structure; thus, the welding electrode reads on lead frame wire.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over USP 4640723 to Sugai as applied to claims above, and further in view of USP 4445350 to Nishihara et al.

Sugai discloses the features substantially as claimed as set forth in the rejection above except for the copper alloy extruding conditions. However, Nishihara discloses claimed material extruding temperature range is conventional for copper alloys in the same field of endeavor or the analogous metallurgical art (col. 4, lines 13-16).

Therefore, it is contemplated within ordinary skill artisan to extrude at conventional temperature for the expectation of success. With respect the extruding speed that ordinary skill artisan would lower the speed in order to prevent material defect or crack.

Conclusion

The above rejection relies on the reference(s) for all the teachings expressed in the text(s) of the references and/or one of ordinary skill in the metallurgical art would have reasonably understood or implied from the text(s) of the reference(s). To emphasize certain aspect(s) of the prior art, only specific portion(s) of the text(s) have been pointed out. Each reference as a whole should be reviewed in responding to the rejection, since other sections of the same reference and/or various combination of the cited references may be relied on in future rejection(s) in view of amendment(s).

All recited limitations in the instant claims have been met by the rejections as set forth above.

Applicant is reminded that when amendment and/or revision is required, applicant should therefore specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See 37 C.F.R. § 1.121; 37 C.F.R. Part §41.37 (c)(1)(v); MPEP §714.02; and MPEP §2411.01(B).
